

Youth Group

We believe that the Youth Group at Good Samaritans is very much so a part of the core church congregation, and not a separate entity.

In the same way Good Samaritan's foundational mission is: a church without walls, where all are welcome; our youth groups are being built on the same ideals.

Our youth groups: Explorers, Middle School and High School groups have been created to give ample room and space for our young people to grow deeper in their faith and to address the everyday challenges of identity and self-esteem as an adolescent.

During weeks 1 and 3 our youth will participate in youth-focused #churchthatserves projects, under the guidance of their leaders and Lucy Karam. Weeks 2 and 4 will be for Formation classes, whilst the occasional week 5 will be for Youth-led Sundays.

Curriculums have been chosen that reflect those journeys and encourage these young minds to remain curious and engaged.

A team of wonderfully enthusiastic and well-versed volunteers have stepped forward, gone through Safeguard training and are ready to build relationships with our youth and share lessons that will hopefully remain with them as they grow and mature.

All of these youth groups are exciting new opportunities coming out of requests from our Good Samaritan parents and the growing need of our congregation; and we need your assistance to see them thrive. Whether it be in volunteering with groups (that your own children are not in); preparing food for events and meetings or chaperoning; every little is deeply felt and appreciated and will go a long way into making the groups sustainable.

As our youth build their faith and characters, we hope they will also find respite, rest and security in these Youth groups in a time when the world feels like it has turned in on itself and can feel deeply overwhelming.
